The Cyber Attack Chaos

One day at Bright Tech, the website suddenly went offline. The IT team found out that too much traffic was hitting their servers from one place, causing a _____ attack, which aims to shut down the service.

Later, they noticed the traffic was coming from many places at once, making it a _____ attack, where multiple devices flood the target.

Meanwhile, an employee got tricked into sharing their password by a fake email, a type of _____ attack that relies on fooling people. They also found that a group of infected computers, called a _____, was behind these attacks.
