First, your mask protects those around you. Coronavirus spreads mainly through respiratory droplets like coughing, sneezing, singing, talking. These droplets can then land on the person who's around you and they may breathe the droplets in. Mask could prevent your respiratory droplets from reaching others. When worn over the mouth and nose, a mask reduces the spray of droplets.

Second, a mask offers protection to you. The best protection is achieved by wearing a mask like this: It is worn consistently and appropriately; It is made from several layers; The mask is comfortable enough to wear without adjusting it; It stays during talking and moving.
