THE WAR OF THE WORLDS

Perhaps you've seen the 2005 film The War of the Worlds. It tells the story of an attack on the Earth by aliens from Mars, and it stars Tom Cruise. But the story The War of the Worlds is much older than the Tom Cruise film.

- The British writer H.G. Wells wrote The War of the Worlds in 1898. It was one of the first science fiction books. In the story, the aliens attacked Britain. They destroyed a lot of British cities, including London.

- Four decades later, an American actor and director called Orson Welles used HG Wells' story for a radio play. The start of the play was like an ordinary radio music programme, but the end was like a news report. In the play, reporters described a terrible attack by aliens. Only one reporter survived. At the end of the play, he was alone on the top of a building. Many listeners panicked because they thought that the play was a real news report. They grabbed clothes and money and ran into the streets. They wanted to escape the aliens.
- In 1952, Hollywood made the first film called The War of the Worlds. In this film, aliens attacked California.
- There was also a musical version of The War of the Worlds. Jeff Wayne, an American from New York, wrote the music for a double album in 1978. It tells the story in words and music. You can still buy the album on CD today.
