

Title: A Day at School Yesterday was an important day at school.

Anna felt very (1) in the morning because it was her first time joining the football team. She was really (2) to play and hoped to (3) the game. Before the game, Anna's friend, Ben, told her about a boy in class who was acting (4) and being a (5) to other students. Ben said this boy often said (6) things to other kids, which made them feel bad. Anna didn't like bullies, and she (7) people who stand up for others. During the game, Anna played very well, but she got a small (8) on her arm when she fell down. It didn't hurt too much, and the game continued. In the end, Anna's team didn't win, but the game was still (9)! After the game, her coach said she did an (10) job, and that made Anna feel really (11) about herself. After school, some students wanted to (12) about the school rules because they felt they were unfair. The school (13) talked about it, and soon the story was all over social (14). At home, Anna told her parents about the protest, and they said that the principal would never get (15) for listening to students' ideas. They all agreed that standing up for what's right is very (16).
