A taxi driver's life

Tom Adams is a taxi driver. He comes from a small town near Dublin, but now he lives and works in London. London news journalist Sally Richards talks to Tom about his life and job.

How do you start a typical working day, Tom?

Well, I get up at half past three in the morning, I have breakfast and take a shower. I eat eggs and I always drink a lot of coffee before I start work. It's dark at half past three in the morning, so it's difficult to get up when it's so early. Then, I get into my taxi and drive around the streets near my house.

How many hours do you work?

Every day is different. Sometimes I start at four in the morning and work until lunchtime – 12 o'clock or 1 o'clock. On other days, I work until four. That's 12 hours! It's a long day.

Do you like your job?

I love it. I meet lots of people from all over the world and I get lots of interesting information from them. Many people are very friendly. Sometimes I have people in my taxi who don't talk a lot, and that's OK, too. I always help the old people I have in my taxi – I take their shopping to their house for them. When I finish work at lunch time, I have free time in the afternoon to do lots of other things. That's great! I play football with my friends or go swimming, and sometimes I go shopping. My wife finishes work at 6 o'clock, so I usually make dinner for her. She likes that!

Do you go to bed early?

Oh yes! I usually go to bed around 9 o'clock and sleep for six or seven hours. I watch the news on TV every night and I usually read a book in bed before I go to sleep.
