

1 Complete the text with words from the box. (5 points)

envelope letter post post office stamp

Have you ever sent a(n) ¹ _____ to a friend? It isn't a difficult thing to do! First, you write it, then you put it inside a(n) ² _____ and write the name and address of your friend on the front. Don't forget to put a(n) ³ _____ on the front too. Go to the nearest ⁴ _____ and ⁵ _____ it. There's usually a postbox outside, so put it in there! In a day or two, your friend will get it and will be happy to hear from you!

2 Write sentences. Use the present perfect. (5 points)

1 you / ever / visit / Canada / ?

2 your sister / write / a song / ?

3 Jo / never see / a polar bear / .

4 I / never send / a postcard / .

5 Carla / ever / climb / a mountain / ?

3 Complete the sentences with for or since. (5 points)

1 We've been here _____ Tuesday.

2 Sally's known Tom _____ last summer.

3 Stephen hasn't had a pet _____ long.

4 I've lived here _____ six months.

5 It's been cold _____ the start of the year.

4 Read the article. Write T (true) or F (false). (5 points)

Postcards in the past

In the UK, between 1901 and 1910, people posted about six billion postcards. Postcards were popular because the cards and stamps were cheap, but also because the postal service was much better than it is today. In big cities, post office workers delivered letters and postcards six times a day. Every day, a young person could easily post two or three postcards to a friend and get two or three postcards back! They used postcards in the same way that we use our mobile phones to send texts – to tell friends about their day or to make plans.

- 1 In the early twentieth century, people in the UK sent lots of postcards. _____
- 2 Postcards didn't cost a lot of money in 1910. _____
- 3 Today, we deliver a lot more postcards than in 1910. _____
- 4 In 1910, it was possible to send a postcard to a friend and receive a reply on the same day. _____
- 5 In 1910, young people usually only sent postcards when they were on holiday. _____