Fill in the Blanks

1. The _____ is often referred to as the brain of the computer.
2. _____ is a type of memory that temporarily stores data for quick access.
3. A _____ uses spinning disks to store large amounts of data.
4. The _____ provides power to all components of the computer.
5. The _____ connects all hardware components together.
6. A _____ is specialized for rendering images and video.
7. A _____ offers faster data access compared to an HDD.
8. An _____ allows users to interact with the computer, such as a keyboard or mouse.

---

Answer List

[CPU, RAM, HDD, PSU, motherboard, GPU, SSD, input device]

Matching Input Devices

Instructions: Match each input device with its correct usability by writing the letter of the usability next to the device.

Input Devices:

1. Keyboard ____
2. Mouse ____
3. Scanner ____
4. Microphone ____
5. Webcam ____
6. Game Controller ____
7. Touchscreen ____
8. Graphics Tablet ____

Usability:

A. Captures images or documents for digital use.
B. Allows users to enter text and commands.
C. Provides audio input for voice commands or recordings.
D. Used primarily for gaming to control characters.
E. Facilitates video input for calls or recordings.
F. Enables navigation and selection on the screen.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

G. Allows users to draw or create digital art.
H. Combines display and input capabilities in one device.

LIVEWORKSHEETS