

TH2 THE VICTORIAN AGE ( LESSON ACTIVITIES)

INTRODUCTION

A TIME OF CHANGE

The 19th century was called the Victorian Age in England, under the reign of Queen Victoria. During that period, Britain became the richest and most powerful nation on the planet: the British Empire. It was also the time of the industrial revolution: new inventions and technologies, and cities were developed.

To describe the power of the British Empire, it is said "The sun never sets on the British Empire". Great Britain had colonies all over the world, so, at any time, there was always a part of the Empire where the sun was shining. At that time, huge colonies like Canada or Australia were part of the British Empire.

Great Britain organised the Great Exhibition of 1851. It took place in London, the Crystal Palace, named so because it was made of iron and glass. Six million people came from all over the world to visit the exhibition. They saw the latest great inventions as well as exotic products from colonies. Great Britain appeared as a world leader.

At that time of great prosperity for England, there were also millions of people who lived in terrible conditions. Their sufferings are well expressed by Charles Dickens's words in his novel Oliver Twist, when a young, starving boy who lives in a workhouse implores "Please, Sir, I want some more." The life expectancy of a child born in a city was of only 27 years in the 19th century.

TH2 THE VICTORIAN AGE

LESSON1

THE VICTORIAN AGE & QUEEN VICTORIA

PART ①*CHANGING TIMES

Before 1800, Britain was principally a rural society, dominated by agriculture. Under the reign of Queen Victoria, Britain changed a lot because of the Industrial Revolution. England turned from a rural and agricultural society into an industrial and urban society. Thanks to the invention of the steam engine* and new machines, the British industry could develop.

New machines were invented that could replace people on farms*. Consequently many people were out of work* and they had to move to the cities to find jobs in new industries.

the steam engine : la machine à vapeur    farm : ferme    be out of work (v.) : être sans emploi

→ READ part ① attentively, PICK OUT information and COMPLETE the chart below

PART ②*THE WORKHOUSES

It was places where poor people who could live, work and earn money. There were also orphans or abandoned children. People were obliged to wear a special uniform. Consequently everyone outside knew they were poor and lived in the workhouse. They ate tasteless* food and the same day after day. Men, women and children were forced to work hard and they often did unpleasant jobs. Children were often sold to work in factories or mines.

PART ③

POOR CHILDREN IN VICTORIAN TIMES - CHILDREN AT WORK

Many Victorian children were poor and had to work to help their families. Children were often forced to work *as soon as** they could walk, that meant at the age of 5. For many families, it was more important for a child to bring home a salary than to go to school. Children worked on city streets and sold things such as flowers, *matches** and *ribbons**. Boys had to clean the roads of *horse-dung**. Children worked on *farms**, in homes as servants and in *factories**.

The Industrial Revolution created new jobs in factories and mines. Many of these jobs were done by children for many reasons:

- Children were *cheap* labour** (a child was paid less than an adult).
- Children didn't *complain** so they were easier to discipline.
- These jobs *required** small size and nimble fingers.

tasteless : sans goût   as soon as: dès que   a match : une allumette   a farm : une ferme   horse-dung : crottin de cheval
a ribbon : un ruban   a factory : une usine   cheap : bon marché   labour : main-d'oeuvre   a slave : un esclave complain (v.): se plaindre   require (v.): exiger

PART ④

THE WORKING CONDITIONS

Children were used as *slaves** in *textile mills** and mines. They had to work very long hours, often 18 hours a day, with little breaks and fresh air. When they *fell asleep**, their employers beat them. When they *were ill**, they couldn't see a doctor or they didn't get paid. Most of their jobs were dirty and dangerous so they were often *injured** and they sometimes even died.

- (3) *Children didn't complain* so they were easier to discipline.*

→ Ces phrases sont toutes au futur ○ présent ○ passé ○ que l'on appelle le _____

→ On utilise le _____ pour parler de _____ sans liens avec le _____ ( événement passé, conte, histoire, souvenir, biographie,...).

A la forme affirmative, on ajoute la terminaison _____ à la base verbale si le verbe est _____.

Les verbes _____ ne se terminent pas en général par _____.

Modifications orthographiques : try → _____ stop → _____ decide → _____

→ A la forme négative, on utilise l'auxiliaire _____ auquel on ajoute la négation _____

( forme contractée : _____ ) . Le verbe est sous forme de _____.

A la forme _____, on utilise l'auxiliaire _____ :

Ex : Where did the children work?

→ Be ne fonctionne pas comme les autres verbes. Comme be est lui-même un _____, il porte la
_____ et devient _____ ou _____ à la forme négative au prétérit.
