DOES YOUR HOBBY MAKE YOU HAPPY?

Do your friends think your hobby is weird? Don't worry! Roberto Dinares is a teenager who loves his hobby even though his friends think it's very unusual. What does he do? Roberto loves jewellery making. He makes necklaces from things he finds on the beach. Last year all his friends were laughing at him. 'All my friends are into online gaming and football. They said I was a bit weird,' Roberto says, 'Well, I suppose it is an unusual hobby for a boy but it makes me really happy.'

When Roberto was younger he was very interested in making things. 'I was always messing about with glue and paint,' he tells us. It wasn't until he started secondary school two years ago that he got into making jewellery. 'All my other teachers said I was lazy, but my art teacher thought I was good at art. She got to know me and gave me some good ideas. She told me that I could find ideas in lots of different places. I started going for long walks to think things over and that is when I got into making jewellery. You can find so many beautiful things on beaches.'

Now Roberto's hobby has turned into something bigger. Roberto took some photos of his jewellery and put them on a website. He didn't want to make any money from his hobby. He just wanted to show people what he was doing. A week later he got an email from a jewellery shop in London. 'I couldn't believe it!' says Roberto. 'The shop owner said she thought my jewellery was really new and exciting. She told me that it was perfect for her shop and that her customers would want to buy it. In the end she bought three necklaces for two hundred pounds. She told me later that a very famous singer bought one of the necklaces; but she didn't tell me her name!'
