THE CARBON CYCLE

How is carbon transformed between organisms and their surroundings?

1. Plants use carbon dioxide from the atmosphere to produce food through photosynthesis.
2. Organisms release carbon dioxide into the atmosphere during respiration.
3. The decomposition and formation of fossil fuels allow carbon to enter rocks and soil.
4. The combustion of fossil fuels in factories and automobiles releases carbon into the atmosphere.

LIVEWORKSHEETS