

Walt Disney was one of the most (1) people in the film industry. Many of the films created by his company are very popular with both children and adults.

However, success did not come early for Disney. When he set up his own film company, it was not very profitable. So, Disney chose to move to Hollywood to start a new (2).....

There, he developed a character based on a pet mouse he once had, under the name of Mickey Mouse. He even gave the mouse his own (3) Soon, Mickey Mouse became the world's most popular cartoon character and Disney was very popular worldwide.

But Disney did not stop there. He went on to produce his first feature-length(4)film Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. The film became a huge success, earning more than 400 million dollars since its release and eight Oscars, the top award in the film industry. Throughout his career, Disney won or received (5)Oscars - a record in history.

Besides making films, Disney was also the creator of the first Disneyland (6) park which opened in 1955. Nowadays, there are 12 Disney parks around the world where people can meet Disney cartoon characters and see live shows of their (7) stories.

After his death, The Walt Disney Studios continued to make high-quality live-action and animated films, such as The Little Mermaid, Beauty and the Beast, and The Lion King. His films continue to (8) both adults and children to follow their dreams.