

Choose the correct form (adjective ending in -ed, -ing, or the verb) to complete each sentence based on the context of cardiovascular exams.

1. (Listen / Listening / Listened) to the patient's heart sounds helps doctors identify abnormal rhythms.
2. A patient may feel (worried / worrying) when undergoing a cardiovascular exam for the first time.
3. The doctor found the examination results (reassuring / reassured), as there were no signs of disease.
4. The nurse is (assess / assessing / assessed) the patient's blood pressure as part of the exam.
5. Patients often describe feeling (relieved / relieving) after receiving normal exam results.
6. It can be (exhaust / exhausting / exhausted) for doctors to conduct several cardiovascular exams in one day.
7. The irregular rhythm was (surprised / surprising), indicating a possible arrhythmia.
8. A (frustrated / frustrating) aspect for doctors is when patients do not follow their heart health recommendations.
9. The patient looked (tire / tiring / tired) after completing the physical exertion part of the test.
10. Conducting a cardiovascular exam can be (stress / stressful / stressed) for students new to clinical practice.

LIVEWORKSHEETS