

Story

The owl scholar who can control time.

Scholars and thinkers from all over the world gather at the city of Antoinerei. It is here where the commonly overlooked Diggle lives. Many don't give a second look to Diggle due to his small frame, until they come upon his researches in chronoscience. Diggle loves clocks, he believes that within these little mechanical toys lies many more yet to be discovered secrets.

Through the use of his "Time Nest," Diggle can control the flow of time. He is also able to release his friends from the physical shackles of time, taking them along with him. Beware though, for if you anger him, be prepared for the taste of a Hoot Hoot "Time Bomb!"