tray by money just past that pounds it on but regular

'Wow, I'm exhausted!' laughed Martin.

'So am I!' said Janice. 'Saturdays are always busy, _____ today is extra crazy!'

'I'd love to sit down, said Martin.

'So would I, said Janice, 'but there's no time.' Then Chrissy sent Martin to buy some extra milk.

Two of the customers outside were studying their bill as he walked _____. They placed some money on the table, and left. Martin knew that Janice was behind him with a _____ of drinks, so he carried _____ to the supermarket.

When he returned, Chrissy and Janice were waiting.

'We've had some trouble,' said Chrissy. 'Two businessmen had lunch outside and then _____ walked away. That's thirty _____ we've lost.'

'I served them,' said Janice, 'and I gave them the bill.

But I didn't see them after that.'

'I did, said Martin. 'But I ...

'Oh, Janice interrupted him, 'so did they give the _____ to you?'

'No, they didn't. I haven't got it, but ...

'Well, neither have I, said Janice. 'So I suppose they just left without paying.

Yes, I'm sure ____'s what happened!

'Well, I'm not,' said Chrissy. 'Those two men are _____ customers. Martin, I'd like to have a little chat with you!'
