

LIPIDS

Match the first half of the sentences with the second half.

Another name for lipids

a reserve of energy for long physical activities.

They are made with the fats in our body.

The monomers of lipids are called

Is fats.

Lipids produce

fatty acid and glycerol.

One important function of fats is two different building blocks (monomers).

Lipids help us to have to protect us from cold temperatures.

Our bodies also use lipids

to build the cell membranes.