

The Norse Gods

Odin sits on his mighty throne,
With one eye, he watches the world alone.
His raven friends fly far and near,
Bringing him news he's eager to hear.

Thor swings his hammer, sparks in the air,
With booming thunder, he's always there.
He fights the giants, brave and strong,
Protecting the world where we all belong.

Loki smiles with a clever grin,
A master of tricks, a maker of spin.
Sometimes he helps, sometimes he schemes,
Filling the world with mischief and dreams.

The three gods, so different, yet great,
Shaping the world and sealing its fate.

Use the poem above

1. What word does throne rhyme with in the first stanza?
 - a. one
 - b. alone
 - c. near
 - d. fly
2. What does the imagery in the second stanza help the reader imagine?

- A. Thor's kindness and peaceful nature
- B. Thor's strength and powerful actions
- C. Thor's ability to solve problems with clever tricks
- D. Thor's role as a leader among the gods

3. Which statement best describes the rhyme in the poem?

- a. The poem has a random rhyme pattern.
- b. Every other line rhymes throughout the poem.
- c. The poem uses rhyming couplets for each stanza.
- d. There is no rhyme used in the poem.

4. How are Thor and Loki different in the poem?

- A. Thor is described as strong and protective, while Loki is described as clever and mischievous.
- B. Thor is calm and wise, while Loki is fierce and bold.
- C. Thor relies on his mind, while Loki relies on his hammer.
- D. Thor and Loki are both portrayed as protectors of the world.