Student Flat Hunting

By Kate

Day One

Hey guys, it's the start of a new year at uni and I'm looking for a new flat. Some of my friends think it's best to live near a supermarket, but that's not at the top of my list of what's important. Ideally, I'd like to find a place that's close to where I'm studying so I don't have to spend too much time travelling. I'm going to get on a bus and visit a few estate agents and see what's available. Let's see how it goes.

Day Two

I've been to a few estate agents and things are not going well. Finding the perfect place to live isn't easy right now because, obviously, everybody else at my university has the same idea as me. It's not going to make me angry though. I know I'll get something in the end.

Day Three

Wow. I just saw a great flat. Unfortunately, it's too expensive for me. It's not surprising that it cost so much. The living room was really big. The flat was brilliant though. The location seemed really convenient for travelling into campus every day. I feel a little down actually.

Day Four

I saw another flat today. It was lovely inside. The living room was cosy and the kitchen was fantastic. It will be so good to live there. Luckily, it's not too expensive. There are two bedrooms in the flat, though, so I'll need to move in with someone else. I'm going to call my friend Linda and ask her if she's keen to move in with me. Hopefully, she will be! She'd be a good flatmate. She has a part-time job so I know she can afford it. She's fun, but not too loud. I know she isn't going to want to have a lot of wild parties, so I don't think there'll be any problems there. All in all, I think we'll both get on well and have a great time together.

Day Five

Luckily, Linda agreed to move in with me. She took a little while to think about it, but eventually she called to say yes. We went to see the estate agent and we signed a contract today. I can't wait to move in and start decorating our flat to make it feel like home. I think it will be a great place to live. It's nice, close to university and not too expensive. I don't have any concerns about living with Linda. I think we will be the best flatmates.
