Subject/Object Questions

1. Explanation

Subject Questions

- Ask about who or what does the action.
- No auxiliary verb (do/does/did) is needed.
- Word order is the same as in a statement.
- Example:
  - Statement: Someone called you.
  - Subject Question: Who called you? (Answer: "Tom called me.")

Object Questions

- Ask about who or what receives the action.
- Auxiliary verb (do/does/did) is used in present and past simple.
- Word order changes (auxiliary verb + subject + main verb).
- Example:
  - Statement: You called someone.
  - Object Question: Who did you call? (Answer: "I called Tom.")

Key differences:

✅ Subject questions use normal word order (Who ate...?)

✅ Object questions use an auxiliary verb (Who did you invite...?)

2. Guided Practice: Transform Sentences

Change statements into both subject and object questions.

Example:

Statement: Someone broke the window.

✅ Subject question: Who broke the window?

✅ Object question: Who did they call after the accident?

Here are more statements with both subject and object questions:

1. Statement: She borrowed my book.
   - ✅ Subject question: _____?
   - ✅ Object question: _____?
2. Statement: Tom sent a message.
   - ✅ Subject question: _____?
   - ✅ Object question: _____?
3. Statement: Somebody stole my bag.
   - ✅ Subject question: _____?
   - ✅ Object question: _____?
4. Statement: They painted the house.
   - ✅ Subject question: _____?
   - ✅ Object question: _____?
5. Statement: John fixed the car.
   - ✅ Subject question: _____?
   - ✅ Object question: _____?
