A New Office

Our company has a new office. There is a big meeting room where we can talk with clients. There are some desks for the employees, and there are some computers we use to work.

In the kitchen, there is a coffee machine and there are some chairs for lunch breaks. But there aren't any snacks in the kitchen, so we need to buy some.

In the office, there is a reception desk for visitors, but there aren't any sofas to sit on. We want to make the office more comfortable.
