

Something new to watch!

Read the dialogue.

Ben: What are you doing, Amy?

Amy: I'm looking for the remote control. I turned on the TV to watch a documentary, but I can't find the remote control to change the channel.

Ben: Oh dear. What's on this channel?

Amy: This is Channel 1. The news is on now. I never watch the news. It's boring.

Ben: I like the news. I watch it every day. How often do you watch documentaries?

Amy: I watch them once a week. I love documentaries about animals and birds. This documentary is about gorillas. Some scientists travel to the mountains to learn about the gorillas there. I really want to see it.

Ben: OK. I'll help you to find the remote control ... Look! Here it is! It's under the sofa.

Amy: Oh, thanks, Ben! The documentary is on Channel 3.

Ben: Hey, look! My favourite TV programme is on Channel 2! Can I watch it?

Amy: What is it?

Ben: It's Ed, Edd and Eddy. It's a cartoon. Ed, Edd and Eddy are three friends. They always find clever ways to make money, but their plans never work. There's a film about them, too. It's very funny. I've got the film on DVD.

Amy: But it's seven o'clock. My documentary is starting now.

Ben: Oh, OK. Let's watch that. Can we watch the Ed, Edd and Eddy film later?

I. Choose Amy or Ben:

1. _____ wants to watch a documentary.
2. _____ never watches the news.
3. _____ watches the news every day.
4. _____ watches documentaries every week.
5. _____ finds the remote control.
6. _____ wants to watch a cartoon.

II. Choose True or False:

1. The news is on Channel 1.
2. The documentary is about birds.
3. The remote control is on the sofa.
4. The documentary is on Channel 3.
5. A cartoon is on Channel 2.
6. The film is about three friends.