

K-pop: A Global Phenomenon

K-pop is one of the most popular types of music in the world. It started in South Korea, but now millions of people from different countries listen to it. Groups like BTS, BLACKPINK, and Stray Kids have fans all over the world.

Did you know that BTS's song "Dynamite" had over 100 million views on YouTube in just one day? That is a record! BLACKPINK is also very famous. They were the first K-pop girl group to perform at Coachella, a big music festival in the U.S.

K-pop is not just music. It includes dancing, fashion, and fan culture. Many fans join fan clubs and learn special fan chants to sing during concerts. Some people even learn Korean because they love K-pop so much!
