Chart Completion Quiz – Forms of Business Organizations and Arrangements

Instructions: Fill in each blank space with the correct response based on the scenario. This chart is part of a technology-based reading strategy using graphic organizers.

Scenario	Prompt	Your Answer (Type here)
Sole traders have unlimited liability.	How is this different from companies?
A co-operative is owned and controlled by its members.	What is one effect of this?
Franchises use another company's model and brand.	What is a benefit of this?
State corporations provide services like water and electricity.	Why are they created by the government?
Companies offer limited liability.	What is the impact on owners?
Partnerships involve shared control and profit.	Compare with a sole trader.
A conglomerate owns multiple businesses in different sectors.	What is one advantage of this structure?
Multinational companies operate across borders.	What is one effect of this?
A company can raise capital by selling shares.	How is this different from a sole trader?
Co-operatives vote on decisions.	What makes this different from companies?	