

Hyde Park – A Special Place in London

Hyde Park is one of the most famous parks in London, England. It is a big, green space where people can relax, play, and enjoy nature. The park is very old. It was created in 1536 by King Henry VIII as a place to hunt deer. Later, it became a public park where everyone could go.

Today, Hyde Park is full of fun things to do. There is a big lake called the Serpentine, where you can go boating or feed the ducks. People also ride bikes, jog, or just walk around the beautiful gardens. In summer, there are concerts and events in the park.

One special part of Hyde Park is called Speaker's Corner. This is a place where anyone can stand up and speak to the public about their ideas. It's a symbol of free speech.

Hyde Park is not just a park – it's a place full of history, nature, and fun!

1. Where is Hyde Park located?

2. Who created Hyde Park and when?

3. What can people do at the Serpentine lake?

4. Name two activities people enjoy in Hyde Park.

5. What is special about Speaker's Corner?

6. Why is Hyde Park more than just a regular park?
