Bizarre injuries

Very few professional athletes have a career without injuries. However, some sportspeople suffer from injuries that happen in unusual ways. Here are three sportspeople who had very strange accidents!

Chris Hanson was an American football player in the NFL. When he played for the Jacksonville Jaguars, his coach had a tree stump and an axe in the locker room to match his motto of 'keep chopping wood.' One day, Chris picked up the axe and accidentally cut his leg. He had to have surgery and missed the final eleven games of the season.

Adam Eaton was an American baseball player. He got a deep cut in his stomach. The strange thing is he did it to himself when he was trying to take the plastic wrapping cover off a DVD. He was using a knife and it slipped and went into his stomach. He got two stitches and he missed two games.

Jimmy Johnson is an American racing car driver. He didn't have an accident in a fast car, though, he had an accident in a slow-moving golf cart. The problem was that he wasn't sitting inside the golf cart, he was on the top of it. When the driver stopped suddenly, he fell off and broke his wrist. He couldn't drive for four weeks and missed an important race.
