

PASSAGE 11

Tra ID Đề [5734] - Tra ID Video [5735]

In developed countries, many people cannot imagine going without a shower when they want one or a drink of water when thirsty, even at a time when global warming and water supply issues are frequently discussed. Although we are often warned about climate change and possible water shortages, it seems that (1) _____ or choose to ignore it.

As the world population grows, water demand will continue to rise. With economic growth in developing countries, people have more spending power, which leads to (2) _____. As a result, there is more water used for gardens, washing machines, and even car washing. Yet, for people in many poorer regions, water is not a matter of turning on a tap. In some places, especially for women, getting water means a long walk to a river or well (3) _____. Young girls often have to help their mothers with this, so (4) _____ or none at all. Without education, positive change cannot happen.

Question 1:

- A. we may not fully understand what happens around us
- B. we haven't understood what is going on or we ignore the facts
- C. we choose ignoring the problem and not knowing its effects
- D. we haven't really noticed or we decide to overlook them

Question 2:

- A. the increase of water for convenience needs
- B. demand that has been created through consumer activities
- C. demands which will use more water resources
- D. a growing demand in water for these daily comforts

Question 3:

- A. which could be some kilometres from their home
- B. and it being located several kilometres away
- C. which may lie far from they are living
- D. that can be taken a long distance to reach

Question 4:

- A. going to school comes in first priority
- B. schooling takes second place
- C. girls' education has taken the second place
- D. learning is often a secondary concern

PASSAGE 12

Tra ID Đề [5736] - Tra ID Video [5737]

Children who argue that pop music does not interfere with their homework may be supported by new findings. Research shows that (1) _____ involves different brain pathways, which can function at the same time without affecting each other. Researchers have found that listening to car stereos does not greatly interfere with driving. Similarly, pop music should not interfere with children's homework. The (2) _____ on their performance is outweighed by other factors, such as their level of enjoyment. These findings could be useful in designing spaces (3) _____ large amounts of information quickly. For instance, they might (4) _____ the layout of pilot cockpits on aircraft.

Question 1:

- A. listen and pay attention to visual
- B. attention to sounds and seeing things visually
- C. focusing on visual information and listening to sounds
- D. attention is given to visual and sound signals

Question 2:

- A. effect pop music has
- B. affect pop music causes
- C. effect that pop music has
- D. affect that pop music causes

Question 3:

- A. in which people need to process
- B. where many people must to take in
- C. that people require for taking in
- D. for people who should taking in

Question 4:

- A. relevantly used in
- B. apply with relevant
- C. be relevance in
- D. be relevant to