

I'm very _____ about my future career as a designer; I can't wait to get started.

Setting short-term goals helps me stay _____ and focused.

I didn't understand much at first, but _____ I began to see real progress.

To reach my dream job, I need to _____ my communication skills.

It's important to learn how to _____ your thoughts clearly during an interview.

In order to speak confidently, I have to use grammar and vocabulary _____.

It became _____ to me that I needed to change my study strategy.

My teacher's feedback was very _____ and helped me believe in myself.

My parents always _____ me to follow my passion, even when it's hard.

If you pronounce technical terms _____, it shows confidence and knowledge.

You should always _____ of your strengths and weaknesses.

It can be really _____ when you try hard and don't see quick results.

My long-term _____ is to become a medical researcher.

My short-term _____ is to pass the university entrance exam.

I try to study English _____ by watching videos and reading articles daily.

I want to _____ my vocabulary to include more academic words.

To work in business, you need to develop _____ of skills like leadership and teamwork.

Some career paths are more _____ than others, requiring deep technical knowledge.

I want to be _____ in English so I can work internationally.

Let me explain my future plans _____ so you can understand my strategy.

Choosing an _____ way of communicating is key in professional settings.

My part-time job is not directly _____ my career, but it teaches me discipline.

I'm interested in a _____ area of law, like intellectual property.

My study plan will _____ reading, speaking practice, and writing exercises.