You have a friend who is going abroad to study a master degree. He sends you an email saying this: "Hey friend, how is it going? As you know, next week I am going to travel to Madrid to study my master degree. I know you are a big fan of this city, so I wanted to ask you for some advice in this city. I won't spend the whole time studying. I also want to visit different places and hang out with local people, what do you recommend me to do in Madrid?"

Your friend, Jim"

Reply this email with the information that your friend needs, mention touristic places, the food he can try, what parts of the city are safe, places where he can hang out.
