I had never had the opportunity (study) a penguin in the water before.

I was familiar () the awkward way () Juan Salvado walked on land, but now I watched (놀라서)(→).

As he used() only a stroke or two, he flew at great speed () one end of the pool to the other (), turning swiftly before touching the sides.

It was amazing! Everyone could see how much he was enjoying himself.

"Ooh! Aah!" The boys shouted, as though(=) they were watching a fireworks display.

After a while, Diego came over and asked quietly, "Can I swim, too?"

I was astonished. He had never gone near the pool before. I was not even sure if he could swim.

"The water is cold, and it's getting late. Are you sure () you want to go in?" I asked. "Please!"

"All right then," I said, "but be quick!"

I had never seen him so excite(→) before.

His eyes were shining with joy, and he seemed to be truly alive for the first time.

Without hesitate(→), he dived into the cold water. I was ready to jump in and rescue him () he could not swim.

(접속사)(→ _____), I soon realized that I did not have anything to worry about.

Diego는 수영을 할 수 있었을 뿐만 아니라(→ _____), but he swam magnificently!

He chased after Juan Salvado, and they swam in perfect harmony.

It was like a duet write(→ _____) for violin and piano.

Sometimes Juan Salvado took the lead and Diego followed after him.
