

Stan Lee: A Comic Book Legend

Stan Lee (be) an American comic book writer. He (be born) in 1922 in New York City. He (have) one younger brother, Larry. As a boy, Lee (like) writing.

In high school, he (enter) a weekly writing competition by a popular newspaper. Lee (win) the competition three weeks in a row. The newspaper (tell) him to become a professional writer.

In 1942, Lee (join) the U.S. Army. While in the army, Lee (write) one story a week for a comic book company. In the 1960s, Lee (help) create the Fantastic Four for Marvel Comics. The characters (be) so popular that Marvel Comics (ask) Lee to help create more characters and stories.

Lee (become) famous for helping to create such characters as the Hulk, Thor, Iron Man, the X-Men, Daredevil, Doctor Strange, and Spider-Man. Lee (receive) many awards during his lifetime. He (die) on November 12, 2018.