Role-play 1: You are a small organizing team for a professional conference. Agree on 3 improvements for this year's event.

Student A – Focus on increasing audience engagement.
Student B – Focus on international attendance.
Student C – Focus on budgeting and time management.

Use at least 4 suggestion phrases and 2 agreement/disagreement responses.

Role-play 2: You attended a local conference that had some issues (e.g. late start, technical problems, boring speakers, poor timekeeping). Discuss what could have been improved. Make at least 5 recommendations for next year's event.

Example: "Maybe they could test the equipment in advance to avoid technical problems."

Role-play 3: Speed rounds: take turns being the problem-presenter, while others suggest solutions. After 3–5 minutes per scenario, rotate or swap cards.

Scenarios:

1. A keynote speaker cancels last minute.

2. There are too many people scheduled in one panel session.

3. There's a budget cut, and one evening event needs to be canceled.

4. Not enough participants have signed up.

5. The conference app isn't working for attendees.

6. A room change causes confusion among guests.

"I'd suggest we rearrange the schedule and move one speaker to another session."

Role-play 4: "Yes, but…": Your task is to make suggestions for improving the upcoming conference. One student makes a suggestion, the next agrees/disagrees and adds a suggestion, using phrases like:

- That's a good point, but maybe we could also...
- I see your idea, but have you thought about...?
- It might be better to...

Example:

A: I suggest we invite more guest speakers.
B: Yes, that's a good point, but maybe we could also include some interactive workshops to balance the schedule.

Role-play 5: Pitch Your Idea – Mini Presentations

Prepare a 2–3 minute presentation recommending one innovation for the next conference (e.g., a new format, activity, venue, app, or catering idea). After each presentation, the other students respond with:

- one question
- one agreement or disagreement
- one additional suggestion

Role-play 5: The current conference agenda is too full. You must cut 2 sessions and suggest how to improve the flow of the event. Discuss and agree on which 2 sessions to cut or merge. Use polite, strategic language.

Student A: Event Moderator – wants time for Q&A and networking
Student B: Guest Speaker – wants to keep all speaker sessions
Student C: Time Manager – needs to end the day by 5 PM

Target phrases:

- "Wouldn't it be better if we…?"
- "What if we moved Session 3 to the afternoon?"
- "Let's consider shortening the keynote to 30 minutes."
