

An area of low land between two mountains or hills

A large, tall rocky area of land that comes up out of the Earth's surface

An opening in Earth's surface from which lava flows

A landform with steep walls that are formed by erosion from river waters

An area of land completely surrounded by water

A large area of flat land