

ID 2 Unit 3.3. Have you sung a song in English?

- 1  3.4 A couple are preparing to go on vacation. Listen and order the photos, 1–4, as they mention them.

2 3.4 Add just, yet or already to extracts a–e. Listen again to check.

- a The dogsitter hasn't arrived.
- b I've told you.
- c Have you fed the dog?
- d I've bought some food for her.
- e I've remembered!

3 Circle the correct meanings for extracts a–e.

- a He's late again. – 's means is / has.
- b Just a minute. – just means recently / only.
- c I've just finished eating. – just means recently / only.
- d I've already bought some food. – already means all prepared / before now.
- e OK. All ready? Let's go. – all ready means all prepared / before now.

4 Make it personal What has happened today? Write sentences with just, already and yet.

a I / have breakfast

I've already had breakfast. / I haven't had breakfast yet. / I've just had breakfast.

b I / go online

c My friend / call me

d I / leave home

e I / eat dinner

f I / take a shower

g I / check my email

h I / do a lot of exercise

5 Web Hunt! Read the article. Then go online to research the four projects. Mark them A, B or C.

- A: Construction has not started yet.
B: Construction has already started.
C: Construction has finished.

Since the very earliest days of humanity, civilizations have demonstrated their power through architecture. Today we can marvel at structures like the ancient Mayan temples of Central America or the Pyramids of Egypt. But what will we leave for future generations? Today we look at four super-buildings around the world.

1 Basilica and Church of the Sagrada Familia. Barcelona. Started in 1882.

1,000 Trees. Shanghai. A tree-covered building.

3 The Diamond. City of London. Jewel of the city.

4 Costanera Center, Santiago. The tallest building in Latin America.

