

A Friends Afternoon

Let's listen to these two friends' conversation and complete it with the correct phrasal verbs.

Emily: Who was that guy you were talking to at the bar? It looked like he was _____.

Sarah: Yeah, we struck up a conversation, and eventually he _____. I gave him my number, but I'm not sure if I'll actually go out with him.

Emily: Oh? How come?

Sarah: He's nice, but I just don't feel like we have much chemistry – so I don't want to _____.

Emily: Well, don't be too quick to judge. My last boyfriend and I didn't _____ right away – I only started to _____ after we went out a few times and I got to know him better. We were together for 3 years.

Sarah: So why'd you _____? If you don't mind my asking.

Emily: Not at all. We just started to _____ – different interests, different plans for the future. The _____ was mutual.

Sarah: Ah, that's great. My last relationship was a nightmare – I _____ a guy at a New Year's party and we were together for six months – but we were constantly fighting and _____. I don't know how I _____ for so long.

Emily: How'd it end?

Sarah: He _____ – I caught him _____ his ex. He begged me for another chance, but I know he was just trying to _____ – so I said no.

Emily: Ugh! Good for you.

Sarah: Heh, thanks. So how about you – are you _____ anyone at the moment?

Emily: Oh, I've gone on a few dates here and there, but nothing serious. To be honest, I'm not really interested in _____ just yet – I'm enjoying the single life too much!
