

English text, level 7

1 Match If clauses 1–6 to result clauses a–f.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. If the alarm hadn't gone off, | a. she wouldn't have missed the turn. |
| 2. If the Internet had been working, | b. there would've been enough food |
| 3. If it had been an easier test, | c. I would've called you. |
| 4. If the sign hadn't been hidden, | d. he would've checked the schedule. |
| 5. If my phone hadn't run out of battery, | e. more students might have passed it. |
| 6. If we'd planned better, | f. you would've been really late. |

2 Correct the mistakes in 1–5.

1. If you hadn't procrastinated, you'd had enough time to study.
2. I would've tell him if I would've seen him.
3. If you had bought a lottery ticket, you might win a lot of money.
4. We could been in the race if we'd sent our applications in on time.
5. If I hadn't found her when I did, she would lost.

1 Match 1–5 to comments a–e.

1. I walked five miles to get here.
 2. He hasn't eaten very much today.
 3. Sorry, sir, you don't have enough money in your account.
 4. There's no sound from the TV.
 5. I heard thunder in the distance.
- a. He might be hungry. Offer him something.
b. You can't be serious! How could that be?
c. There may be a storm coming.
d. You must be tired!
e. It could be the speakers.

2 Circle the correct alternative in 1–5.

1. Studies show that lack of exercise can / might not lead to obesity.
2. Sugar-free chewing gum can't / might not be so good for your teeth.
3. He didn't realize that his car could / must get such good mileage.
4. It might not / could be so easy to find a replacement for that device.
5. It can / must be a really long wait for a table at this restaurant.

3 Complete 1–5 with can't or must and these verbs: believe, imagine, keep, realize, think

1. I _____ listened to her entire story again!
2. You _____ that this is a controversial subject.
3. She _____ how you got him to talk about it.
4. My friends _____ I'm crazy to go out with him.
5. Don't tell her—she _____ a secret.