Amazing Animals

1 Artic Foxes can be white, brown or gray depending on the time of year. They live in the Arctic Circle where the temperatures in winter are extremely low. During the winter, they have the warmest coat in the animal world. Their thick fur coat helps them maintain their body temperature and they use their tails as blankets. They also have a very good sense of smell. They can smell a seal a mile away.

2 Bactrian Camels are brown. They live in the deserts in Central Asia. They have 2 humps on their backs. They use their humps to store fat and use it as energy and water when they are far away from food and water sources. They have very long eyelashes that protect their eyes during sandstorms.

3 Chameleons live in rain forests and deserts. Chameleons that live in rain forests are usually green and those that live in deserts are normally brown. They have a sticky tongue that can be up to 61 centimeters long. They use their tongues to catch insects. They can move their tongue as fast as 19 km per hour. They can change color to control their body temperature.

4 Gentoo Penguins are black and white with red-orange beaks. They live in Antarctica and other islands around this continent. They cannot fly, but they are the fastest swimming birds in the world, they can reach speeds of up to 40 kilometers per hour. When they are hunting, they can stay under water for up to 7 minutes.
