Section 1: Reading

A Busy Weekend in London

Last weekend, many tourists visited London. On Saturday morning, the weather was sunny, and people walked in the streets and visited museums. At 10 a.m., hundreds of tourists arrived at the British Museum. They saw the famous Rosetta Stone and learned about ancient Egypt.

In the afternoon, some families went to Hyde Park. Children played with their dogs, and parents enjoyed a picnic. At 3 p.m., a street performer played music near the park fountain. Many people stopped to watch and took pictures.

In the evening, many people went to Covent Garden. They ate dinner at different restaurants and tried traditional English food, like fish and chips. Some tourists watched a theatre show at the nearby theatre.

On Sunday, the city was very busy again. Thousands of people visited the Tower of London. Tourists saw the Crown Jewels and learned about the history of the castle. Many people took a boat tour on the River Thames. In the afternoon, some visitors went shopping at Oxford Street and bought souvenirs.

Overall, it was a very busy but exciting weekend in London. Many tourists enjoyed the museums, parks, restaurants, and shops. People took many photos and wrote stories about their trips.
