MEETING NEW PEOPLE

A INDIA

Although the western tradition of shaking hands is quite common, many Indian people value the traditional form of greeting in which you put your hands together and just move your head down a little. While doing so, you should say the word 'Namaste'. Remember not stand too close as personal space is very important for Indian people.

B BRAZIL

When you meet a group of people, it's important to greet each of the people present individually. Men usually shake hands while married women kiss each other once on each cheek. Single women add one more kiss. People usually stand very close to the person they're greeting.

C IRAN

When meeting people in a formal situation, it is important to remember that men must only greet other men (by kissing on the cheek) while women can only greet other women. This idea is similar in many of the neighbouring Arab countries. Shaking hands is usually used for less formal situations, like meeting a friend in the street.

In this country

1 it may be rude to say Hello to everyone in general. ___

2 you should keep your distance from the other person. ___

3 the greetings are typical of the whole region. ___

4 you can greet people in two very different ways. ___

Hi Kate,
Thanks for your email. I'm sorry to hear that you're ill at the moment. I didn't write back sooner – I was really busy last week preparing for a history competition, which was two days ago. It was really difficult, so I'm quite anxious to get the results. I should have them next week.
Anyway, I'd like to tell you about a new girl in my class. Her name's Alice and she joined our class last week. Actually, she's also my new next-door neighbour. Her family moved in two weeks ago.
I think Alice is great. She's a short, pretty girl, with long black hair and a nice smile. I think most of the girls in my class expected her to be shy and quiet at first. Well, she's nothing like that! She's really chatty and funny. And she can play the guitar and sing really well! You know I've always wanted to learn to play the guitar. Well, she promised to help me!
I hope you'll get better soon.
Write back.
Love
Cheryl
