

Expressions

out of the blue

put his nose to the grindstone

It's now or never goes in one ear and out the other

gut feeling

I can't help it

Did you listened about Marcelo? I told him he was not allowed to go out tonight, he had to finish his chores at home. However, He actually did it. I saw him walking down the street. Whenever I tell him something it..... .

He's been lagging off with his math homework. He needs to..... If he doesn't he'll fail that subject. I have the..... that if he continues procrastinating, he'll bring failing scores home.

Marco changed his mind easily. From one time he agreed with my point of view, andhe totally disagreed with me. I get really angry when this happens. I mean..... I know that, because I frequently lose my temper.

You know you've got this bimester to study hard and pass the final test. I mean..... You've got almost enough time to brush up on listening and grammar.