

Part 1: Multiple Choice – Building an Essay

Instructions: This homework will help you practice building a strong argument. You will first choose the best parts of an essay.

Topic: Should all students have to wear a school uniform?

1. Choose the BEST introduction.

- a) School uniforms are clothes that students wear. Some schools have them, and some do not.
- b) The topic of school uniforms is important. This essay will look at the good sides, like making things equal, and the bad sides, like stopping self-expression.
- c) I think school uniforms are bad because they are boring and I don't like them.

2. Choose the BEST 'For' argument. (A reason why uniforms are good).

- a) Firstly, school uniforms help everyone feel equal. When all students wear the same clothes, there is less competition about wearing the best or most expensive brands.
- b) Firstly, uniforms are not very cool. They are usually old-fashioned and students do not feel happy in them.
- c) Firstly, some people like uniforms because they are easy to find in shops.

3. Choose the BEST 'Against' argument. (A reason why uniforms are bad).

- a) On the other hand, uniforms can be uncomfortable. Students have to wear them even if they don't like the color.
- b) On the other hand, uniforms are low cost. Parents don't have to buy many different clothes.
- c) On the other hand, uniforms stop students from expressing themselves. Clothes are a big way for young people to show who they are, and uniforms take away that choice.

4. Choose the BEST Refutation. (This answers the 'Against' argument).

- a) It is true that uniforms limit clothing choices; however, students can still show who they are through their hairstyle, shoes, and their personality.
- b) It is true that uniforms are boring, and I agree. Schools should not use them.
- c) Some people argue that uniforms are cheap, yet they are actually very expensive to buy.

5. Choose the BEST conclusion.

- a) In conclusion, some people like uniforms and some people do not. It is a difficult topic.
- b) In conclusion, even though uniforms limit clothing choices, they help make school a more equal place. Therefore, they are a good idea for building a strong school community.
- c) In conclusion, I believe we should ban all school uniforms because they are the worst.

Our Appearance vs. Our Food

Introduction: Is it as important to care about how we look as it is to care about the food we eat? This essay will look at the good sides of caring about our looks, the reasons why healthy food is more important, and why we need a balance.

For: (1) [_____], taking care of our appearance can boost our confidence. When we feel we look good, we often feel more positive and prepared to face social situations like school or interviews. (2) [_____], presenting ourselves neatly shows respect for others and can create a positive first impression.

Against: (3) [_____], many argue that our physical health should be the ultimate priority. What we eat directly fuels our bodies and brains, affecting our energy, mood, and long-term well-being. (4) [_____], a diet high in sugar can lead to health problems, while a balanced diet supports a strong immune system.

Refutation: (5) [_____] the opposing view emphasizes health, it is important to note that appearance and health are often deeply connected. (6) [_____]

Conclusion: (7) [_____], finding a balance is key. We should not sacrifice our health for beauty, nor should we completely neglect our self-presentation.

(8) [_____], I believe that while caring about what we eat is non-negotiable for health, taking pride in our appearance is also valuable for our mental and social well-being. (9) [_____], we should care about both, but always ensure that our nutritional health comes first.
