Before leaving, we met a young engineer, a real (5) _____ who created an app to help solve traffic problems in big cities. It was such a fun and inspiring day!

IV. Read the text and answer the questions in FULL SENTENCES.

Last Sunday, Mai's class went to a technology fair in the city. At the entrance, they saw a friendly humanoid robot saying, "Hello, welcome to the fair!" Everyone gasped in amazement because it looked and sounded almost like a real person.

Then, Mai tried a small gadget that could count her steps and check her heartbeat. The man at the booth said it had a rechargeable battery, so you could use it many times.

Later, the class met a young genius who showed them his new invention: a school bag that can charge a USB device when you walk in the sun. Mai was thrilled at this idea and said she wanted to make something similar one day.

Before leaving, the teacher said: "Technology helps us solve problems and make life easier."
