

Clothing store

Gabriela works in a clothing store. She loves her work because she likes fashion and likes to recommend clients the most appropriate clothes according to what they need to wear or have to buy.

In the morning, a client asks her if she can help him. Then Gabriela says what do you need to buy? He wants to buy formal clothes for a job interview. Gabriela recommends a white shirt and a gray skirt, with shoes that match her bag. At the end the client asks for the price telling her "How much is it?", then he pays and leaves.

The sky is cloudy, so she carries an umbrella just in case.

Later, another client asks for help choosing the best gift for her boyfriend. Gabriela shows her some very nice ties, an elegant watch and modern sunglasses. She wants to buy a red and blue tie.

A customer needs to buy clothes for his beach vacation. She chooses shorts, a hat to protect herself from the sun, and a cotton shirt.

Shortly before the store closes, a man arrives in a hurry because he has to make a trip to Finland and does not have warm clothes. Gabriela suggests that he wears boots, a scarf to cover his face, and a jacket. That's right, Gabriela loves her job.
