

He works for an international company.

She writes emails every morning.

He manages a small team in the office.

She answers the phone politely.

It sells products all over the world.

He checks the reports before the meeting.

She designs new cameras.

He travels to London every month.

She attends meetings with clients.

It produces high-quality furniture.