

An island

An island is a body of land that is surrounded by water. Continents are also surrounded by water, but they are (1) big, so they are not considered islands. Australia is the smallest continent, (2) it is more than three times the size of Greenland which is the largest island in the world. Islands can be

(3) in all bodies of water. There are (4) islands in the oceans, lakes and rivers around the world. There are two main types of islands,

(5) are oceanic islands and continental islands. Have you ever been on holiday to an island before?
