Proofreading

The article below has nine mistakes. Use the proofreading marks to fix each mistake. Then, write the misspelled list words correctly on the lines.

Having a cold is certainly unpleasant—especially if you are unprepared for that sudden sneeze. Here's some good advise: "Keep a handkerchief close by."

Handkerchiefs have been used for a long time. In the first century B.C., they were made from linen. Later on, in the Far East, silk was used. In the 1600s, handkerchiefs of every size shape, and dezzine could be found. Some had lace and buttons. Imagine using a handkerchief decorated with gemstones! Toward the 1800s, people became disintarested in these fancy pieces of cloth and began to use tissues.
