MY FIRST ROBOT

In a small town, a young girl named Allison received her first robot. It was a gift from her parents for her birthday. Her robot, named Robo, was small and shiny. Allison was very excited to have her own robot. She showed it to her friends, and they all wanted to play with it.

Robo could do many things. It could dance, sing, and even help Allison with her homework. Whenever Allison had a question, Robo would use its special computer brain to find the answer. Allison loved her robot because it made learning fun. Her friends also enjoyed visiting her house to see what new things Robo could do.

Allison 's favorite thing about Robo was that it could tell stories. Every night, Robo would sit next to Allison 's bed and read her a bedtime story. It became a special part of her nightly routine. Allison always thanked her parents for giving her such a wonderful gift. She knew Robo was her special friend.
