Read the following passage and answer all the questions.

Tracy Edwards

Tracy Edwards is a British sailor. As a child, she wasn't interested in sailing. Instead, she wanted to be a dancer - like her mother. Edwards was miserable at school because she hated following rules and taking exams. She was always shouting at her teachers, and in 1977, at aged 15, the school asked her to leave.

She didn't know what to do, so she travelled to Greece. There, she got a job on a boat. This was her first experience at sea, and she was taught how to sail. At that time, there were few women taking part in competitive sailing. Edwards wanted to change this situation and in 1989, she bought a 10-year-old yacht called Maiden, and formed an all-female sailing team. The public were very surprised when this female team in their old boat came second in The Whitbread Yacht Race. This is a famous round-the-world race, and consequently, Edwards won the Sailor of the Year prize. Soon after that she sold Maiden.

In 2017, Edwards found Maiden in an old boatyard. She followed her daughter's advice and bought it, and the bank agreed to lend her thousands of pounds to repair it. From 2018 to 2020, Maiden sailed around the world, stopping in places like India, Australia and Canada. The Maiden team wanted to improve knowledge about education for girls and to raise money for girls' schools worldwide. Every time the boat stopped, hundreds of schoolgirls visited to hear the team talk about education.

Edwards now works with youth groups as a teacher of internet safety. She continues to spend her free time encouraging girls in learning.
