

A Day in Cerro del Santísimo

Last Sunday, Valentina went to Cerro del Santísimo with her mom and her brother, Mateo.

They usually stay home on weekends, but they wanted to do something different.

First, they took the cable car up the mountain. Mateo is usually scared of heights, but he was calm because the landscape looked beautiful. Valentina always takes pictures, so she took many photos.

At the top, they walked to the large statue. They often see it online, but seeing it in real life was amazing. Then, they went to the viewpoint, where they could see the whole city.

Valentina's mom sometimes feels dizzy at high places, but she enjoyed the view. Later, they walked down the stairway to the square, where families were relaxing. Valentina liked the fountain in the center. After resting, they visited the souvenir shop and bought a keychain.

Mateo rarely buys anything, but he chose a magnet. At the end of the day, Valentina was tired but happy. She always loves spending time with her family.
