

- C. Gazpacho is a cold tomato soup typical of the south of Spain. It originated there. In cities like Seville and Córdoba summer temperatures are over plus 38°C and gazpacho /gæz'pætʃəʊ/ is the best choice for cooling down quickly. There are various versions of gazpacho all over Spain, but the basic ingredients are tomatoes, cucumbers, onions and olive oil. Other gazpacho recipes include pepper, bread, garlic and vinegar.
- D. French fries are full of salt and calories. Even a small serving from popular fast food cafés contains about 350 calories. And this leads to putting on weight. What's more, French fries are loaded with fat. Frying robs the vegetables of their natural nutritional value. To make matters worse, many restaurants prepare fried foods using unhealthy artificial oils that contain bad fats.

MODULE 2

Text	A	B	C	D
Title				