

Nouns Possessive Case. A7-A8.

1. After a magnificent wedding (1), Ken's and Barbie's honeymoon (2) in Bali was absolutely idyllic (3), although they faced (4) a brief but dramatic tropical storm which forced them (5) to postpone their snorkeling adventure.
2. The university student's results (1) were finally published (2), and they provoked a mixture of relief (3) and disappointment, so (4) the faculty has announced a meeting to address everyone's concerns (5).
3. He was utterly devastated (1) to discover a significant scratch (2) on his brother's-in-law brand new car (3), which (4) he had borrowed just for the afternoon (5).
4. Bach and Mozart's compositions (1) are frequently celebrated (2) for their complex, elegant and memorable melodies, yet both composers (3) have made an enormous contribution (4) to classical music (4).
5. Despite (1) working in the same office for over a year (2), they realized they had never exchanged (3) each other phone numbers (4), which became a major inconvenience (5) when an urgent meeting was suddenly scheduled.
6. The manager announced a mandatory five-minute's break (1) for the entire team (2), hoping it would help (3) them regain their concentration (4) and improve their overall productivity (5).
7. The new department store has an extensive and sophisticated collection (1) of mens' wear (2), which includes (3) everything from casual blazers (4) to formal suits for special occasions (5).
8. The children listened with fascination (1) to the grown's-up old tales (2) about life before the internet (3), finding it almost impossible (4) to imagine a world without smartphones and social media (5).