Women and their relationship with food

1

Yes, definitely. For me good meals with the family make me happy.

I'm very traditional and I have three main meals a day. For breakfast, I like hot chocolate and bread and butter with honey or jam. For lunch, I often eat in a restaurant with my co-workers. I usually have vegetables and meat for fish, but I love pasta and rice, too. In the afternoon, I have fruit with cookies or a piece of chocolate. In the evening, I have proper meal with my family..

Yes, I cook every evening for my family, I often make soup or traditional French dishes like boeuf bourguignon, which is a kind of beef and red wine stew, and then we have cheese and salad. I may seem a lot, but we don't eat big servings. What's important to me is quality, not quantity.

Not at home. I think most of the food I cook is healthy. Occasionally when I eat out I have something unhealthy, but it doesn't worry me.

Yes, I'm trying to less chocolate..

- A. Do you ever cook?
- B. Are you trying to cut down on anything at the moment?
- C. Do you ever eat “unhealthy” food? How do you feel about it?
- D. Is food a pleasure for you?
- E. Are people's diets in your country getting better or worse?
- F. What do you normally eat on a typical day?

PART 5

Questions 26 - 30

Read the text below and answer the questions. Choose the correct answer A, B, C or D.

Three Common Myths About Fast Food

Salads are healthier than hamburgers

Did you know that salads can have more calories than a medium-sized pizza? This is because of the cheese, meat, and oil they contain, which are not exactly low in calories.

Not all salads are bad and it is true that most of them are healthier than hamburgers and chips, but be careful! To decide which salads are healthy and which are not, simply have a look at the fat, carb and salt contents of the salad you are about to order – that should help you decide if you want it or not! Tip: Always ask for a salad and the dressing separately. That way you can control how much you put on.

Eating lots of fast food will cause addiction

This is a hotly debated topic nowadays. Some people claim that fast food chains are intentionally putting addictive chemicals in their food to make people come back for more. Although the number of people going to fast food restaurants has rocketed over the past few years, this is not necessarily because of any secret addictive ingredient.

Fast Food Is unhealthy and Makes you fat

This myth is partially true but not because it is fast food. Any food consumed in large amounts will make you fat. It is also true that most fast food contains high amounts of fat (sauces, cheese and meat), sugar and lots of salt, which encourages you to drink more. If you drink water, then OK, but most fast food outlets sell soft drinks like Coca-Cola, Fanta, etc. These gassy drinks are extremely unhealthy because the soda 'eats' away your bones and they don't quench your thirst because they are full of sugar or sweeteners. Even the low calorie drinks are bad for you because of the soda.

26. Salads can be surprisingly high in calories because ...

- a) there is too much salt in them.
- b) the quality of the food is poor.
- c) they have hidden ingredients.
- d) they can have a lot of fats.

27. The author suggests ...

- a) not having any salad dressing.
- b) serving yourself the salad dressing.
- c) choosing a different salad dressing.
- d) taking low calorie dressing.

28. She ... there are addictive ingredients in fast foods.

- a) doesn't believe that

b) isn't sure if

- c) can't decide if
- d) is convinced that

29. Fast food usually has lots of ...

- a) salt.
- b) fat.
- c) salt.
- d) all of the above.

30. You quickly get thirsty again after a soda because ...

- a) it has too much gas.
- b) it is sugary.
- c) it has too many calories.
- d) it doesn't have any water.
